DID YOU KNOW?

According to Oxfam America's 2023 report on the best and worst states to work, North Carolina ranked #52 out #52. That's in last place behind 49 other states, D.C., and Puerto Rico. The report further ranks North Carolina as #52 for wage policies (minimum wage of $7.25, tipped minimum wage of $2.13), #51 for worker protections (lack of paid family/sick leave, safety standards, etc.), and #49 for rights to organize (union suppression, no collective bargaining).
